

Scribing: An Emerging Art Form

Unique "Taster" Workshops

with visual practitioner KELVY BIRD

DRAW while people talk...

The Art of Scribing

Learn about the "art of scribing"—a practice that visually represents ideas while people talk—and its role in transforming conversation and decision-making. Participants will explore the profession, learn 4 Levels of Scribing, and experiment with scribing conversation.

Sunday, October 6 from 9am-12pm

RELATE in new ways...

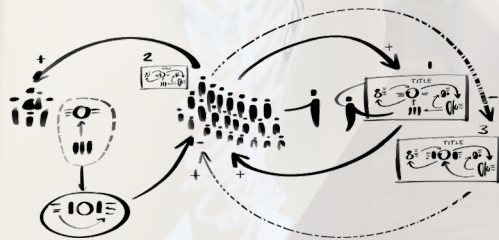

Levels of Listening

Listening is a cornerstone of all facilitative work. This session will include a review of "Levels of Listening", and apply the levels directly to scribing. Participants will practice conversing and drawing with different levels: factual, relational, and generative.

Saturday, October 12 from 9am-12pm

MAP complexity...

Systems Scribing

Here we dive into the basics of systems scribing and present a framework based on systems thinking, systems being, and systems living. Participants will learn specific methods and techniques for recognizing basic feedback loops in conversation and for 2D modeling.

Sunday, October 13 from 9am-12pm

These sessions are open to anyone who is interested in the "live" visual practice of scribing, with no previous experience required. Drawing will be our primary form of expression, and conversation the primary form of shared reflection.
